The President received a telegram from the committee of a public meeting held in Philadelphia, inviting him to stop there on his homeward trip. The invitation, however, cannot be accepted, for no other reason than that it would interfere with the schedule.

The Chicago Times says: The country has had enough, and more than enough, of Philip Sheridan's impudence. If the President respects himself and the office he holds, he will straightway kick the insolent, drunken upstart out of the office of district commander.

A man at Portland, Maine, had his house robbed recently by a New York professional, who, on his way home, stopped and wrote a letter to his victim, returning a lot of papers valuable to the owner alone, and signing himself "a poor but honest burglar."

The Sheriff has seized, at St. Louis, about one hundred and twenty tons of railroad iron belonging to John C. Fremont, destined for the use of the Atlantic and Pacific railroad. The writ was in favor of the German Savings Bank, which had loaned the company some six thousand dollars, and had not been able to pay when the money became due.

Mr. Dumas, the younger, in an article on theaters, says there are some three hundred person in Paris who make a point of attending the first night of a new piece, and on their judgment its success depends. He gives it as a general rule that a theater only begins to puff itself and vaunt its success when it has begun to have doubts.

At Springfield, Massachusetts, a boy six years old stole ninety-five dollars from his mother, and disposed of it among his playmates. His mother took up with the idea that her son was possessed of a demoniac spirit, and to punish him for the theft and drive the devil out of him, she tied him hand and foot to a post, and kept him stark naked, out of doors, in sun and storm, every day for a week. Not content with this brutal treatment, she kept him for a fortnight, tied in a similar way to a bedpost in the house.

The last Turf, Field and Farm says: "Another grand trial of speed is talked of between Ethan Allen and Dexter. An offer has been made to match Allen against the "King of the Trotting Turf" for a considerable sum, Ethan to go in harness and Dexter to wagon, mile heats, best three in five. A more equal race, it strikes us, would be for Dexter to go to saddle and Ethan with running mate. What a race that would be! Ethan could have gone two seconds faster in his first heat on Friday, and if both should come to the score in such a match all right, the time of the last race would be beaten three seconds.

Some of the proprietors of the Atlantic telegraph stock in England are making efforts to obtain a weekly publication of the receipts by the cable. Not only is Nathaniel Fullerton, of Vermont, who is aged ninety-two, and President of the Bellows' Falls Bank, the oldest bank president in the country and the oldest Mason, but he is also the oldest euchre player. He plays that game regularly, and has attained a skill in handling the cards which no professional can excel, and is a match for the most experienced player in the county. His boy, sixty-two years old, lives near him, and partakes much of his father's energies and tastes.

A farmer named James W. Armstrong, living three miles southeast of Maple Rapids, Clinton county, Michigan, seduced a girl aged thirteen years, who has been living with his family for two or three years past, and she is soon to become a mother. The girl was the daughter of a man named Warren, who died in the war, and whose mother was obliged to find places for her children on account of her poverty. Armstrong's wife, on hearing the facts, last week, attempted to commit suicide to hide her grief and shame, but failed.

Samuel E. Smith, Radical, of Granville, Kentucky, has notified John Young Brown that he will contest his right to a seat in the Fortieth Congress, because the election was illegally conducted in all the sub-districts where Brown had a majority, the officers of election not representing equally the opposing political parties; because Brown circulated false rumors that Smith had withdrawn from the contest; because Union voters were overawed in some precincts, and finally, because Brown is disqualified from holding his seat in consequence of avowed disloyalty. In the Mountain District, McKee, defeated Radical, has served a similar notice on Mr. Young, contesting his seat upon almost the same grounds.

Moonlight, says the Turf, Field and Farm, the most promising four year old on the American turf, is dead. Her career has been a brilliant one, and in the very zenith of her fame the bright star has been veiled by the dark shadow of death. Her form did justice to her breeding, and she was a combination of beauty and strength; her dam was Daylight, by Glencoe, and her sire the immortal Lexington. Moonlight was owned by Messrs. Renick & Miller, and on many hard contested fields she carried the colors of this stable to victory. At the Chillicothe meeting, on the 20th of June, she started in the two mile race, won the first heat in gallant style, lost the second, and showed so much distress that she was withdrawn. But, alas! the hand of death was upon her. Gamely had she struggled to the last, but the sweet goal of victory was never to be won. Her eyes began to glaze, and when the bugle sounded for the start, she fell upon the track and expired.

AN ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE THE CZAR.

Details as to the Assassin and his Crime.

Berzeowski says he made up his mind to shoot the Czar the moment he heard of his intention of visiting Paris. He left the workshop, where he was employed, of Messrs. Gouin & Co., the well known engine builders, on the fourth of May, and continued to live, in the meanwhile, on the money he says he had saved, and on the bounty he received from the Government, viz: thirty-five francs a month. He seems to have led a very ascetic sort of existence—to have eschewed cafes, and all other Parisian dissipations, and to have made no friends. He has a father and brother residing in Poland, but with them he seems to have no communication. On Wednesday—the day before the review—he went to an armorer's on the Boulevard Sebastopol, and purchased a double barreled pistol. The armorer showed him one which had not been proved, which cost eight francs. On this he asked if there was nothing better, and was shown one at nine francs, which he bought and paid for. He also procured a few bullets, and powder and caps. He thought the bullets too small for the bore, and he spent the evening in rolling leather around them, and increased their size so as to make it necessary to drive them home with a mallet; and, on the next morning, (that of the review,) after breakfasting on a piece of rye bread and some charcuterie, he sallied forth with his pistol in his pocket. He meant to murder the Czar as he went to the review, but the crowd was so dense that he could not make his way to the cortege.

He determined then to postpone the carrying out of his deadly intention until the return from the review, and took up his station in the avenue which leads from the cascade to the lake, close to the race course. Even then it seemed likely that he would not have an opportunity of committing the crime on which he was bent. The Imperial carriage moved toward another road, but it was filled with troops marching off, and the horses' heads were turned toward the road where Berezowski lay in wait. Even there the crowd was so dense that the carriages had to go at a foot pace. When it was opposite to him, Berezowski, who stood on the left side of the carriage—that on which the Emperor of the French was seated—advanced a couple of steps, pulled out and cocked his pistol, and holding it in both hands, discharged both barrels simultaneously.

The Emperors and Princes are seen covered with spots of blood which is scattered over the inside of the carriage. Each inquires anxiously of the other if he is wounded. None have been touched. The Russian Princes embrace their father; the Emperor Napoleon, with the cool courage he has always manifested on such occasions, rose in the carriage, his uniform spotted with blood, and waved his hat to the crowd, assuring them that no one was hurt. The poor horse, however, had been shot through the head, and the bloody shower had come from his nostrils.

Berezowski was at once directed to the Conciergerie, whither M. Rouher, accompanied by Count Schouvaloff, immediately repaired. The Count kept apart; he had not demanded to see the assassin, and perhaps feared to obstruct the action of French justice. But M. Rouher invited him to question the culprit himself and receive his first declarations. Count Schouvaloff questioned him in Polish, in order to give the prisoner fuller facility of expressing himself in his mother tongue. Berezowski said that he had taken a very active part in the last insurrection; he was then sixteen years of age. Returning to his family he had not been disturbed; nevertheless he did not think it his duty to remain in Poland, which he left in 1865. His family does not profess revolutionary opinions, and it appears that the political ideas of Berezowski do not accord with those of his father. Since he quitted the paternal roof he has not written once to his parents. It has been already stated that Berezowski was wounded by the bursting of the pistol. The pieces of the weapon smashed some of the articulations and lodged in the hand. The surgeon of the Conciergerie has amputated the thumb, taking great care that mortification should not set in. The prisoner, who has had several attacks of delirium, is watched. He is placed in one of the three cells specially set apart for men accused of great crimes, and for those condemned to death. That in which Berezowski is confined, is situated just beneath the part of the chapel which, in 1793, was the last cell of Queen Marie Antoinette, and later, that of Verger and Orsini.

On Monday last, says the Nashville Gazette, Allen Dukes, living nine miles from Cleveland, East Tennessee, was killed in his own house in a drunken brawl with Wm. Wooden. His skull was fractured, and a fatal stab in the left breast was inflicted.

WASHINGTON, June 29.—The wife of President Juarez left to-day for New Orleans, en route home.

General Spinner, in an official letter to the Cashier of the National Bank of New Hampshire, says that after the failure of a National Bank it has nothing more to do with notes whereof the United States undertakes to redeem. Such notes are subject to the same rules of redemption as public notes of the United States.

The Greek delegation here discredits the reports of Turkish successes in Candia. Its latest accounts from the seat of war are favorable to the Greeks, and there is no news in confirmation of any Turkish successes since those that have been achieved.

The Judiciary Committee, to-day, decided to commence taking evidence again, and thereupon briefly examined Miss Anna Surratt. It has not transpired what her testimony was, but it is said that it was nothing important.

BALTIMORE, June 29.—The President was received at the depot by Governor Swann and Mayor Chapman, and escorted to Barnum's Hotel, where, in the presence of an immense crowd, he was welcomed to the city by Governor Bradford. He returned thanks, saying his reception in towns North and South had been of a character indicating an era of good feeling and reconciliation between the two sections of the Union. "I thank God it is so. It is easy to apply the word traitor to me, as some have done, but I defy any man to put his finger on any great principle of the Constitution or liberty that I have abandoned. I have held to the Constitution as the palladium of our civil and religious liberty, and as the ark of our safety." He urged his hearers to cling to the Constitution, and said he had tried to discharge his duties; he had committed errors, but now that the era of good feeling had commenced, he was in favor of forgiving one another in the spirit of charity in order to secure a close fellowship. The President was repeatedly cheered.

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 29.—The Savings Bank has been seized by the military, on account of its failing to pay full principal and interest to certain United States soldiers of the Fort Moultrie garrison, who were depositors when the war commenced. The bank is insolvent and in a state of liquidation. The directors refuse to consider these depositors as preferred creditors.

PARIS, June 29.—The official list of awards to Americans to be given at the grand Exposition on the first of July, is published.

SAVANNAH, June, 29.—Hon. H. Fitch, United States District Attorney, in answer to a letter on the subject of disfranchisement, says: "The elective franchise is one of the rights restored by pardon and amnesty. If any person was pardoned, and he be refused registration, let him enter a protest for the consideration of the commanding general." The Attorney thus closes: "Next to the usurpation of power, there is no higher grade in political crime than a timid abandonment of right."

NEW YORK, June 29.—A telegram from Rome says that Archbishop Purcell, of Cincinnati, will have assigned him the post of honor, on the right of the Pope, at the grand St. Peter's ceremony, to take place to-day, and that every attention is being shown to American bishops and others there.

LOUISVILLE, June 29.—Ex-Attorney General Speed left for Washington last night, having been summoned in the Surratt trial.

Wm. P. King and Abraham Owens, convicted of robbing a train on the Louisville and Nashville railroad, last fall, and afterward murdering Hawley King, fearing he would expose them, were executed yesterday at Franklin, in the presence of about four thousand persons. Both persisted to the very last moment in asserting their innocence.

Two more deaths by cholera are reported.

RADICAL OPERATIONS AND MISREPRESENTATIONS.

A Letter From a Chicago Man in Memphis to his Radical Home.

From the Chicago Times.]

The writer has been "solemnly impressed" with the political vagaries and abstractions of a young Chicago gentleman, who has been for a year past a resident of the rebellious city of Memphis, Tennessee. Said gentleman has so far strayed from the faith of his strongly Radical Chicago home, and his still more strongly Radical Republican family, as to write as follows:

"As the canvass for governor is now going on, the country is filled with blackguards, who go about preaching Brownlow's confiscations, and such like, to the negroes; but I think that Radicalism is nearly played out, and that Democracy will once again assert itself, and resume its sway,—at least in this State,—where Radicalism has reached the highest pitch, and a dirty, thieving militia been appointed to harrass and annoy the peaceable citizens. All these lying accounts you see in Northern Radical papers about outrages committed, etc., by the inhabitants, are simply untrue; and it is surprising that the people believe all that is said. No persons ever desired peace and harmony more than those of the Southern States, and that is all they are trying to obtain; but I fear they will be unsuccessful, as they cannot oppose the strong interest brought to bear against them."

Thus writes the son of Radical parentage, after an honest and personal inspection of affairs in Tennessee; and thus would all the young men of our land write if they could but be thrown into the South, and there witness the actual condition and workings of matters, military and political. Give to the rising generation a practical insight of the vile corruptions of this unholy crusade now waged against the whites of the South, and that moment they are converts to the Democratic faith. Old heads have strong and usually immovable prejudices, but good and durable material is to be found in the young men of the country.

The writer has known a great deal of the South for the past two years, and can indorse the letter quoted, and would add that this feeling obtains with all Northern men whom he has met in the South, with exceptions few indeed. Let us, then, as Democrats, buckle on our armor anew, and never waver in the good work. Let us never again be led astray with worship of false gods,—never deviate from the ways of our fathers,—never lose sight of the old and once familiar landmarks of Democracy, and we shall again be victorious. Let all be working, and, though every white man in the South may be disfranchised, we can hug our "new brother" (?) as closely as our neighbors, and he will still be controlled by those whom he knows as friends.

The eyes of the world are turned to the Democracy of this country, believing that only in it can be found the full fruits of a salvation for our Government. Can a Brownlow create a loyal feeling in the heart of a Tennesseean? Can a crusade upon a party already down and whipped into the very earth inspire a feeling of love for the power which further oppresses it? Can unmerciful cruelty attach the affections of an erring child to a tyrannical and heartless parent? Radicalism proposes that the world shall "guage the tree by its fruit," and, hiding the preponderance of good, shows only the evil, which is small indeed. Pursue your vigorous, manly, able and steadfast course, planting your anchor of faith always firmly in the old and unchangeable rock of Democracy, and the Times will chronicle, at the next general election, the universal triumph of Democracy.

Mrs. Bennett and Her Diamonds.

New York Correspondence of the Washington Press.]

Here is a tall, stately woman, dark and swarthy as Cleopatra, with hair lifted entirely from her brow, and a braid, just the least frosted, but thick and heavy as a ships cable, coiled around her head, with heavy golden row-boats suspended from her ears, in place of ear rings; a sky blue silk petticoat, with a black silk over skirt, and bracelets heavy and strong enough to have chained Andromeda to the rock from the beginning of time to this day. She has taken off her dainty kids, and the wonder is how did she manage to get them on over those magnificent diamonds? She looks at the "Esterhazys," she glances at her own flashing hands, and then says: "Why, these diamonds don't compare with mine." Any American must exult with her. This daring remark summoned a man from some unseen quarter like magic, who says: "You remember, Mrs. Bennett, you bought your diamonds when we could afford to sell a single stone for $1,600 to $1,800 in gold." This most distinguished looking woman is Mrs. James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald. She is attended by a very small man, who wears an eye glass and carries a very slim cane, and she consults him from time to time, after the fashion of David Copperfield's sturdy aunt and Mr. Dick.

Mr. Provost, United States Consul at Guayaquil, Equador, died, on the 23d ultimo.

TENNESSEE ITEMS.

Henderson Young, colored, ejected from a South Nashville railroad car, will the Banner understands, enter a suit against the company for $10,000 damages.

Gen. J. A. Denney has received the appointment of Register of Bankruptcy for the First Congressional District of Tennessee.

In the case of the State versus the Conductor of a Nashville street railroad for ejecting Henderson Young, colored, from his car, the Board of Magistrates decided on Friday that the company certainly have the right to designate certain cars for colored persons; but that the conductor must have placed on his car in some conspicuous place that his car is for white people, thereby notifying all persons of the fact; then, they think, he would clothe himself with the authority to eject any person not privileged to ride on said car. But in this cause there is no proof that on defendant's car there was any such notice, and he was therefore found guilty of assault and battery, and fined $5.

It is becoming more and more evident every day, says the Nashville Union and Dispatch, that Brownlow is so distributing his militia as to take possession of the ballot box and make the August election in this State a mocking farce or a bloody tragedy. The people of Tennessee have never asked anything but a free ballot, and this they are entitled to. Since the Federal Government is extending over us a quasi military government, it is quite clear that a few more of its troops could be well employed to secure the freedom of elections in this State.

At a Radical meeting held in Edgefield last Tuesday, General Cooper, of the State militia, was one of the orators. He began thus: "I am the organ of the Radical party and commander in chief of the militia." He went on to threaten that if the "rebel sheets" did not change their tone, he would do it for them, or words to that effect. The Banner says: Take care, General; you won't get much military glory by meddling with the press. If you think you can make capital with your party by browbeating and bullying editors, suppose you commence with the Banner. It will be the worst day's work you ever put your hand to.

A Falsehood Undressed.

The following is taken from the New Orleans Bulletin of the 17th:

We regret to learn that a dispatch was sent to Baton Rouge a few days ago, from New Orleans, that "Mr. C. W. Stauffer, recently killed in a street renconter," "was assassinated in the streets of Natchitoches by a party of rebels." The dispatch is false. Mr. Stauffer was killed in a difficulty by John S. Jones and his brothers, Judge R. B. Jones and Dr. Jones. All of the parties concerned are prominent members of the Republican party of this parish. So far as we could learn, business, not political affairs, caused the disturbance. We call on our brethren of the press throughout the State to insert this notice, in order to correct erroneous reports in regard to our State and people. We refer our readers to the annexed certificate of Judge Charles A. Bullard, President of the Republican party, of the parish, and the magistrate who presided at the examination of the accused parties:

It having been reported that Mr. Cyrus W. Stauffer, was, on the 3rd of June instant, shot down in the streets of Natchitoches, by a party of rebels, I deem it my duty to state thus publicly, as President of the Union Republican club of this parish, and magistrate, who presided at the examination of those accused of killing him, that the report is groundlessly false. Mr. Stauffer and the accused were all prominent members of the Republican party of this parish. The difficulty which resulted in the death of Mr. Stauffer, grew out of former business connections between the parties, and was, in no way, connected with politics.

I deem it my duty to state further that I know of no instance wherein a Union man, merely because he was a Union man, has ever been in jeopardy in this community; on the contrary, there is a strong desire among all classes to forget the past, and live together in harmony, and unite together in restoring the State to its proper orbit in the Union.

CHARLES A. BULLARD,
Magistrate and President of the Republican Club of Natchitoches.

The Queerest Snake Tale Yet—An Insane Hog—He Becomes a Bird Charmer—His Sudden Death—Is Examined and a Live Snake Found Within Him.

From the Nashville Banner, June 22.]

GREENBRIER, June 17, 1867.

A queer case has just occurred here. On the farm of Mr. George Reems there has been a fine porker for several months afflicted in a singular manner. The first symptom was noticed in February, when he began to quarrel with all the other hogs on the place, refusing to let them eat out of the same trough with himself, and finally driving them out of the pen altogether. From this time forward he began to fatten, or rather swell to an enormous size, rivaling a good, fat mutton. On one occasion he chased a dog for half an hour, and three or four negro men aver that they have seen him frequently this spring lying under the trees and charming birds; on which, they say, he has feasted ever since the season came on. About two weeks ago he became dangerously ferocious, howling night and day like a bull, and wallowing constantly in the water. Day before yesterday he was found dead near the spring. Dr. Robert Dixon, who had heard of his strange freaks, had the curiosity to cut him open, when there was found in his entrals a live snake, three feet long and as thick as a man's wrist. The stomach appeared to be terribly inflamed, and mortification ensued immediately after the parts were exposed. The snake has been preserved in alcohol, and will be sent to the medical faculty at Nashville for examination. W. R. LEWIS.

A Murderer's Dream.

One of the strangest waifs of the day is the subjoined letter from Probst, written only two days before his execution. The Philadelphia Bulletin publishes it for the first time:

"PHILADELPHIA, June 6, 1866.

"A good dream.

"In the night, from the second to the third of June, I had a good dream, which gave me great joy. I came into the house where the family lived which I had murdered. I met them all together—all the eight persons sitting at the table, and when I opened the door, they all rose from the table, and all shook hands with me, and received me with the greatest joy and love, and asked me where I came from and where I had stayed so long. And they asked me if I would not stay with them; they would give me all I wanted if I would only stay with them. I have seen all the eight persons standing before me as if alive; even the little baby I saw in its mother's lap, and it recognized me, and it smiled and gave me its little hand to shake,—and then I awoke.

"Written by myself,
"ANTON PROBST."

Masonic Relics.

At the recent Masonic celebration in Winchester, the apron worn by the orator, Wm. H. Travers, Esq., formerly belonged to General George Washington, and was presented to him by General Lafayette, and has beautifully wrought on it in silver and gold the flags of France and the United States combined, and forms by their combination the principal Masonic emblems. This apron was presented to Mount Nebo Lodge, of that place, by one of the Washington family in 1811, and has ever since been carefully preserved by the lodge. Mr. Darnell has a beautiful photograph of the apron. The trowel used in the exercises was presented and used by Governor Levi Winder in laying the corner stone of the old Masonic Hall in Baltimore in 1814, and afterward was used in laying the corner stone of the Washington Monument of Baltimore, and also of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. It is of solid gold, very heavy, with an ivory handle, and worth at the present rates a nice little sum.

Take good care of yourself, my dear. Feed the baby on one cow's milk. Excuse haste, etc.

EDITORIAL
THE PEN IS MIGHTIER THAN THE SWORD.

SUNDAY, : : : : : : : : : : JUNE 30, 1867

NOT a bale of cotton, says the Montgomery Advertiser, has been sold in Montgomery, nor do we suppose in any other Southern city, since the close of the war, without the payment of the three per cent. tax required by the law to be paid on each pound. So far as the city of Memphis is concerned we vouch for the truth of the statement of the Advertiser, and we believe with that paper, that it is true with reference to every other Southern city. The payment, says the Advertiser, of fifteen dollars per bale, ought certainly to afford a fine revenue to the Government; yet we find the startling statement recently made, that the Government has never derived one dollar of benefit from this tax. Supposing the number of bales which have reached market to be 1,800,000 for the past year about $27,000,000 of taxes have been collected, and yet the Government, we are informed, has never received the benefit of one dollar of this huge amount. The way it is disposed of is this, according to a speech recently made by Honorable ED. COOPER, a member of Congress from this State. Mr. COOPER says that not one cent of this tax goes to pay any of the debts or officers of the United States. Those who manufacture the raw cotton, General Butler for instance, will manufacture, say 100,000 pounds. Butler goes to Washington, presents his bill of lading, showing he has shipped that day so much, 100,000 pounds say, of manufactured cotton, and draws from the Treasury of the United States three cents for every pound that the bill of lading calls for. If this be so, no wonder that the pure minded Congressmen from New England so violently oppose a repeal of this odious and unjust tax upon the energy and hope of an already deeply oppressed people. Why Senator SPRAGUE, of Rhode Island, the great manufacturer of New England, will alone add to his revenue hundreds of thousands of dollars by this drawback subtracted from the producer and conceded to the manufacturer. We were told when this tax was levied that it would not fall on the producer, but that he would add it to the price of his cotton and collect it from the first buyer, and so on until eventually it would be paid by the consumer. This might have worked, (though the burden then would have fallen on the Southern as well as other consumers,) did Southern cotton, as formerly, control the markets of the world. But the necessities of the planter, the embarrassment of his commission merchants, caused by advances to him, and the general prostration of the South, left it powerless to contend with the capital of the world, compelled rapid sales at the sacrifice to the producer of the three per cent. tax, and the rise which combined ability in the South to hold might possibly have exacted. Thus every cent of this twenty-seven millions or more of dollars is extracted from the poor broken down planter and his former slaves, not for the benefit of the Government, but to augment the revenues of the shoddy manufacturing aristocracy of the North. Not only does this give them the three per cent. advantage of the foreign manufacturer, but they are further protected by a tariff on imports which taxes cotton manufactured goods, whilst it lightens the duties on dyes and other stuffs, that enter into the manufacture of those goods in this country, so as to give them the monopoly of the markets of the United States. Thus the Southern planter and his former slaves, who use cotton goods mostly, are compelled by the legislation of the country to pay into the coffers of the manufacturers not only the three per cent. on cotton, but to pay him for the manufactured cotton whatever he may exact, the monopoly of the markets being secured to him. And yet a Congress which entails such legislation, and refuses to repeal it, and will continue to refuse to do so, appeals to those very planters and their former slaves to so organize their political communities, as to perpetuate its power for their further debasement and impoverishment. We can save this tax by doing our own manufacturing and getting the drawback ourselves, and shutting off, by making cheaper goods, the advantage which the Northern manufacturers derive from their sales to the consumers of the South.

IN the interest of the city of Memphis, we would invoke a full attendance of the stockholders in the Memphis Race Course at the meeting to-morrow. The eyes of the turf patrons of the country are now turned to Memphis. The next great running race of the year is to take place here on the third Monday in October. The Turf Congress has decided by ballot that the first of its annual national contests for the Congress purse and diamond mounted whip shall be decided on the track of the Memphis Association. The stables, which the influence of eight of the most powerful clubs in the country can control, will be here, to say nothing of the inducement of a purse the minimum of which is $3,000. Have we the track in such condition as will reflect credit on Memphis when these turfmen and their stables, and the vast crowd which they will attract, come? We say it is not in such a fix in point of accommodations as to do so. There is but little time left between now and then, and that time should be improved in preparing the track so as to make it worthy of the great occasion, which is not only to lend attraction to Memphis, but is to be the means of introducing a large expenditure of outside money in our midst. The material men of Memphis, who are to be most benefitted by the expenditure should put their shoulders to the wheel and aid the preparations for a creditable consummation of this great event.

THE ponderous wheel of reconstruction for the South, is still turning. Attorney General STANBERRY has issued an opinion in regard to the powers of the monarchical janizaries who have been sent by the Radical Congress to lord it over a people not disposed to give trouble to the constitutional workings of the Government, that has brought little SHERIDAN, the male snow bird of despotism in Louisiana, to a halt in his wayward and arbitrary hops. Governor WELLS, under the instructions of the Attorney General, has intimated his intention to take charge again of the helm of State government. The man is bad enough, as viewed by his political antecedents, but the principle which he proposes to maintain in asserting his right to take the control of Louisiana from the despotic rule of military fanaticism is correct, and must meet the approbation of every one who is not a convert to the erratic doctrines of such recent Confederate "rebels" as can see no wrong in any outrage proposed and enacted by Radical banditti upon the Constitution of the United States—if that instrument be really worth any more to the country than "the paper it is written upon." Governor WELLS, in this instance, has done right, and if a military man, such as General ROUSSEAU, be sent to his aid, all trouble will subside in Louisiana. But for such a change we have not much hope, for General ROUSSEAU is too just and proper a man to suit the power which created the military bill of reconstruction. In comparison to SHERIDAN, he is "Hyperion to a Satyr." One is a gentleman of high principle, the other the sponge bearer of the rough and bully.

WE are glad to see the interest which a portion of our citizens of West Tennessee are manifesting for the success of the Conservative cause. In our local columns will be found the call upon Colonel CHAS. S. CAMERON, from some of the best men in our section of the State, to address them at different points, to which he has assented. This gentleman is one of our most earnest and effective speakers, and will do Yeoman's service for Conservatism wherever he appears. He is earnest for principle, and will deal deadly blows upon Radicalism by telling the truth on its designs and on its vile, unprincipled adherents. We will endeavor to inform our readers of the progress which he makes from day to day.

WE were pleased to receive in our sanctum, on Friday, ROBERT HARDIE, Jr. Esq., of the editorial corps of the Galveston News. The News is one of the leading and best, as well as truest papers in the State of Texas, and we were gratified to grasp by the hand one of its talented staff. Mr. HARDIE left Friday evening by rail for the North, in company with that genial gentleman, Colonel C. W. S. BROWN, the great railroad agent.

Dr. F. A. W. Davis and Mr. W. C. Chamberlain have started for Honduras from Natchez to look for lands for a colony from Adams county, Mississippi.

An order has been issued from General Ord's headquarters requiring, where sheriffs have collected taxes on negro women and minor freedmen, that such tax be refunded.

The sheriff of Tishomingo says there are 1,500 persons in that county that have failed to pay taxes; and if they do not come to time, he will put them to work on the roads.

The Trenton (Georgia) Gazette, of Friday, says on Saturday little Oscar Burrow, son of Mrs. Burrow of this place, while riding on the inclined wheel of the carding factory, was crushed to death.

The New York Times says it is satisfied there are negroes who could preside over the Senate with quite as much dignity, intelligence and grace as Senator Wade himself does.

A Yankee in Manchester, Connecticut, has invented a wonderfully perfect knitting machine, which makes 270,000 stitches per hour, and knits fifty pairs of socks per day.

A young man in Holstein, named Thode, according to late German papers, confesses to having murdered his father, mother, sister, four brothers and a servant, for the purpose of securing the paternal estates.

This week work will be resumed at Sharpe's rifle factory at Hartford, Connecticut, and the forty thousand guns which the company made for the Government during the war will be altered so that metallic instead of paper cartridges can be used.

The Jackson Advertiser, of the 22d, says: "We learn that the assassin of George V. Moody has been captured, and was brought by the military authorities to this city to-day. It took place last fall, at Port Gibson, the residence of Colonel Moody."

In Litchfield, Connecticut, on Sunday, Captain Salmon Buel celebrated his one hundredth birthday by attending the Congregational church (which is the New England idea of festivity,) the congregation rising as he came in, and choir singing "Old Hundred," (which is the New England idea of facetiousness.)

A horse owned by a gentleman in New York got its leg broken last week and was shot. A dog that had slept for three years in the stable with the horse, refused to be separated from his dead companion, and would not be comforted. When the remains of his lost friend were borne away, he sat on the cart, the only mourner at the funeral. He returned to the stable at the end of three hours, seeming to feel the loss deeply, and no doubt regarding sorrowfully the vacant stall in which his friend was wont to stand.

A Troy paper tells this story about the wife of Congressman Morrissey, who came down from Troy to New York one day last week: "Below Chatham, at one of the way stations, a poor boy, crippled and deformed, very pale and evidently much exhausted, entered the car. Mrs. Morrissey observed his condition, and calling him to her, directed him to occupy the seat in front of the one in which she sat. She took off a rich shawl, folded it into a sort of pillow, and picking the boy up into her arms, laid him down. Shortly afterward a vender of oranges passed through the car, and Mrs. Morrissey bought some for the lad. When the conductor came, Mrs. Morrissey paid the fare of the cripple. In a few moments the lad fell asleep."

Thus far only two gentlemen have formally declared their intention to offer themselves as candidates for Governor of Alaska.

The Pine Bluff Dispatch says that on the recent trip of Governor Morton, of Indiana, from Little Rock to Hot Springs, he rode in a United States ambulance, and had a military escort, we presume, to keep the dogs away.

A special dispatch to the Missouri Democrat, dated Springfield, June 27th says: Hon. S. M. Cullom, of this Congressional District, leaves this evening for Washington, to attend the July session of Congress. He is in favor of either impeaching the President at once or continuing the session of Congress during the balance of President Johnson's term.

The Panola Star of Saturday says the corn crop of Panola county, Mississippi, was never more promising before at this season of the year. The quantity planted is largely in excess of former years. The Shylocks of the Northwest, who have been holding back their provisions, and compelling our people to pay them double price for bread and meat, had better stand from under, or they will get hurt.

The Washington Express says, that on Friday night week, Hon. John Morrissey and Hon. Ben Wood were playing the intellectual game of faro and that it resulted in the transfer from the Hon. John to the Hon. Ben. of the Tyrone buildings, valued at $60,000. The fickle goddess seems to have deserted the Hon. John, for not very long since it was reported the Hon. Ben. pocketed $100,000 of his funds as the result of one night's indulgence in the aforesaid innocent and elevating recreation.

The DeKalb (Mississippi) Flag contains the obituary of Richard Odin, who died near Kemper Springs, Mississippi, on the 6th day of April, at the age of one hundred and twelve years. He was born in August, 1755, in the State of North Carolina, married at the age of nineteen and moved to South Alabama, and lived there until he was ninety years old. At the age of ninety-four he was converted and joined the Methodist Church. His wife survives, and is one hundred and seven years old. His descendants, including, children, grand and great grandchildren, are supposed to number seventy-five.

Last summer a well known lady of New York stopped at the same hotel in Baden Baden where the Duchess of Sutherland, with her son and daughter, were stopping. Instead of Saratoga trunks, the Duchess, much to the astonishment of her American lookers on, used only large English carpet bags in which to pack her clothes. "And would you believe it possible," said the American lady, "they all wore white muslin dresses! How was it possible to pack them in carpet bags?" The Duchess remained but a few days in Baden Baden, and when she left it took sixteen carriages to carry her, her servants and her carpet bags.

NAPOLEON'S DAYS OF EXILE AND PENURY.

Miles O'Reilly's Reminiscences of Napoleon's Life in London.

Prince Louis Napoleon—then plunged in debt, residing obscurely either in St. James or Jermyn street, London, and covered with ridicule from his failure at Boulogne, and the "tame eagle" purchased at the Zoological Gardens "to arouse the enthusiasm of the French for the nephew of his Uncle"—was first pointed out to us one night, or rather very early one morning, leaning with folded arms upon the bar of a handsome French cabaret in the Haymarket—a cabaret belonging to the class which we youngsters, pretending to study in London, then called "Finishes"—thereby meaning a supper house and tavern which kept open after all similar places of resort had closed, and to which old and young men would occasionally resort, when wishing to "finish up" a jolly good evening.

As we saw Louis Napoleon that night, we saw him on several nights after—probably half a dozen or thereabout, we think; and he was invariably either lounging before the bar of the same cabaret, or leaning upon it with his elbows, usually sipping, slowly and with moderation, a small demi-tasse of curacoa, or some other liquor; and chatting with, and paying for similar drinks on behalf of, some of his unfortunate young French countrywomen—that saddest of all the female classes called the femmes de joie—who, probably expecting to find him there, would come in for a glass of wine and a sandwich, or for stronger liquors. Let us add in justice, however, that the Prince never appeared to have any other relation with these unfortunate females than to amuse himself, or perhaps instruct himself in human nature, by hearing their stories; in return for which he paid for their liquor and bon bons, himself certainly poorer, for a Prince, than the very humblest of these wrecks of womanhood for whose refreshments his slender purse would be so liberally pulled forth to pay.

Let us explain how Louis Napoleon came to be in these places, or rather this place—it was a handsome French tavern next the Cafe de l'Europe, if we remember rightly—at such unseasonable hours. While the Royal Opera, just opposite, was in session he was a constant attendant thereupon almost every evening—that is, when the Sheriff's officers were not after him for debt; and after the opera was over, living in chambers and only taking his breakfast at home in the morning, he would then cross over to this cabaret, or the cafe next it, for his supper. Supper over at one o'clock, and being a late sitter up, he would lounge into this bar room and spend there an hour or two smoking cigars and sipping what he pleased, and chatting with his unfortunate countrywomen, and sometimes, but rarely, with certain of his poor exiled countrymen, before retiring to rest. He was a lonely man, and his presence there never struck us as having any air of dissipation, but rather suggested one who was utterly world weary and glad to study misery in all its shapes, so that his own great sadness might become less by contrast. Either this, or that he was a philosopher studying life, and French life in particular, through all its phases—even the saddest.

Of course, if asked how the writer and his companion came to be in such a place, the answer must be obvious to the meanest capacity, and can only reflect credit on us when properly understood. On some occasion two or three of us had been sitting up to a late hour with a sick friend; or we had been studying to a late hour at some friend's chamber, whither we had jointly repaired for the benefit of his larger library; or we had been so intensely studying all the day, and up to midnight, that a few hours exercise in the open air became absolutely essential before healthy sleep could be secured. It is also known that there are instructive meetings in London, which keep open to a very late hour; and under any of these contingencies it will be seen that a little supper before going home—and this "Haymarket Finish" was on our way to our chamber—must have become little less than a necessity; so that our presence in said "Finish," at any time between one and three o'clock in the morning, should be construed rather as an argument for credit than disgrace. At any rate, we have now the example of the greatest Emperor to justify our presence there, and what that greatest Emperor then did so openly, surely no journalist of the New York press, nor any of his then fellow students, need be ashamed to confess.

Besides seeing Louis Napoleon at this French cabaret late at night, we often saw him on horseback during the day, riding up Picadilly or in Hyde Park—these public appearances of his being often confined to the Sabbath—for "on the Lord's Day" (see William and Mary, Chap. iv. Sec. 7,) "for on the Lord's Day," says the most benevolent and pious statute, "the debtor shall be free." In other words, Prince Louis, during the greater part of the time we lived in London, was so deeply in debt that the Sheriff's officers were in continual pursuit of him with writs of ca. sa., and so forth—horrible little slips of parchment entrusted to a beetle-nosed, bottle-nosed, and greasy gentleman, wearing large jewelry, and named Slowman, (query, "Solomon,") who had a "sponging house," or private prison for debtors in Chancery Lane; and while these writs were out against him, the Prince could only appear abroad on Sundays. We have heard that in his rides he was frequently accompanied, though we never so saw him, by the first Sir Robert Peel, and also by the Duke of Wellington—these two, almost alone in England, having formed a high opinion of his talents, never losing faith in his final success, often helping him with money, and always prophesying that he would yet redeem the errors and follies of his youth, and rise up at some unexpected crisis as a great man in the destinies of France.

The Buntyn HOMESTEAD LANDS FOR SALE.

WE have the pleasure of placing on the market these very desirable and valuable lands, so well known to the community as the Homestead Tract of the late Geraldus Buntyn, Esq., situated at the first station on the Memphis and Charleston railroad, five miles east of the city. The improvements, with about twenty acres of land, have been recently sold to Hume F. Hill, Esq., who now resides upon the premises. The balance of the tract, consisting of about 600 acres, has been laid off in lots varying in size from five to ten acres, fronting upon broad avenues, and laid off so as to secure the greatest amount of comfort. The trains of the Memphis and Charleston railroad afford the opportunity of going in and out of the city, from and to Buntyn's Station, four times a day, so as to make a residence at this point almost as convenient as to live in the city itself.

The choice can now be had of lots wholly or part in original forest, or in field.

IN EXCHANGE FOR CITY PROPERTY.

The executors are directed by the will to sell this place and invest in city property, and we will receive propositions to exchange for either improved or vacant lots in the city.

To all parties looking for a suburban residence, we do not think any property more desirable can be found, in regard to health, convenience or good neighborhood, within the same distance from the city.

The terms will be made very liberal and easy, and the prices low to parties desirous of buying for occupation.

Plans of the subdivision will be shown at our office.

SECOND DRAWING

OF THE

SOUTHERN ASYLUM LAND CO.

TO BE HELD

AT HERNANDO, MISS, AUGUST, 1867

THE FIRST DRAWING, which took place at Hernando Miss., on the 15th instant, was attended with unusual success, when it is remembered that but a few weeks elapsed from the inception of the enterprise to that event. Seventeen thousand dollars worth of tickets having been sold, a like amount of property was drawn for, under the supervision of gentlemen selected by the ticket holders present. The utmost harmony and good feeling pervaded those present, and, as will be seen from the subjoined certificate of the managers, the affair was conducted to a close in a most gratifying and satisfactory manner:

HERNANDO, MISS., June 15, 1867.

We hereby certify, that the above report of the first drawing of the Southern Asylum is correct, and that the proceedings were characterized by a spirit of fairness and justness unsurpassed by any drawing of which we have any knowledge. The managers of the Company placed the tickets and wheels under our sole management and control.

J. B. MORGAN,
W. W. CAMPTON,

LYON'S PERIODICAL DROPS!

THE GREAT

Female Remedy for Irregularities

I HAVE tested these Drops in my own practice over ten years, and do not hesitate to say, that nothing has yet been developed by medical research that acts so powerfully, positively and harmlessly, in cases of female irregularity, as does this medicine. In all recent cases it never fails, while thousands, who have been long sufferers, are indebted to it for the boon of health to-day.

Although so powerful and positive, they are perfectly harmless, and may be used at all times, except when specially forbidden in the directions.

They have been extensively employed by eminent physicians in France and England, as well as in my own practice, over ten years, and I have yet to hear of the first instance of failure. I could give you testimonials of their efficacy from ladies all over the Northern and Western States, were they not in their nature private. Over one hundred thousand bottles have been sold the past year, and I hope and trust as many sufferers have been benefitted. I am well aware that a remedy so potent to remove all obstructions, may be used for a bad purpose, but trust that where one bottle is thus used, ten may fall into the hands of really needy sufferers.

To all who suffer from any irregularity; painful, difficult, excessive, offensive or obstructed Menstruation, Leucorrhea, or the train of diseases that follow, I would say, try a bottle of DR. LYON'S FRENCH PERIODICAL DROPS. Being a fluid preparation, their action is more direct and positive than any pills or powders. Explicit directions, bearing my fac simile, accompany each bottle.

They may be obtained of nearly every druggist in the country, or by inclosing the price to C. G. CLARK & CO., New Haven, Ct., General Agents for the United States and Canada.

DR. JOHN L. LYON, Practicing Physician.

A shrewd father's advice to his family was: "My dears, buy your dresses at Elson's. They have the largest stock, and I know it to be the cheapest store in the city." F,S&T

Come, all you economical housewives, and get some of the cheap, damaged goods, before they are all gone. M. Kraus & Co., No. 213 Main street, next to Ward & LeGuere's drug store, have still a few on hand, and must close them out in thirty days. tf

The "Rambler," a pretty thing, at Francisco & Wiggin's, 309 Main street. 3t

Don't miss the rare chance to buy cheap, as M. Kraus & Co., No. 213 Main street, next to Ward & LeGuere, will sell their goods, damaged by the late fire, regardless of price and value, in quantities to suit purchasers. Country merchants, planters and citizens, don't forget. tf

The rush for the cheap damaged goods is as great as in the start, hence the conclusion that M. Kraus, No. 213 Main street, next to Ward & LeGuere's drug store, must sell their dry goods, clothing, etc., really cheap. tf

The Bird Eye, something new and elegant, at Francisco & Wiggin's, 309 Main street. 3t

Isn't it astonishing, the way the rush still continues at Elson's great clearing sale? For the past two weeks their large store has been crowded with customers anxious to secure the great bargains this popular concern offer at their great clearing sales (which, by the way, have become a fixed feature in the city). Damaged goods are extraordinarily high when compared with the prices which rule at Elson's. Parties in want of good goods, at low prices, will do well to attend to Elson's advertisement. F,S&T

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC.—R. Lowenstein & Bros. have further reduced the prices on their entire stock of staple and fancy dry goods. They are also constantly receiving new goods, which they will sell at less than they have heretofore been sold in this market. 6t

A COLD BLOODED MURDER.

Recklessness of Metropolitan Police.

The recklessness with which the Metropolitan Police use deadly weapons, and the numerous instances in which they, in the most brutal manner, club prisoners who make no resistance, is a subject of loud complaint with all classes of our citizens. Yesterday, about half-past one o'clock, a man named John Hughes, an inoffensive fellow, who was at the time making no resistance, nor attempting an escape, was murdered in cold blood by a policeman, whose name is said to be Wambold.

In the row of houses fronting the river at the foot of Jefferson street, there is a drinking saloon known as "Joe's House." At the hour mentioned three or four persons were in "Joe's House," and the policeman who subsequently committed the murder was sitting on a box in the doorway, and was talking with John Hughes, the deceased, who is a river man, and who at the time was somewhat under the influence of liquor, but not at all noisy or quarrelsome. Finally, some disagreement occurred, and the policeman, getting up, said he would arrest Hughes. Hughes made no resistance, and walked along, but the policeman now alleges that when a few steps from the door, they were walking along, the deceased said that he (the policeman was a son of a b—h anyway." The policeman let the deceased go on two or three steps, and when he turned his head to see why the policeman didn't come along, the policeman, who had drawn his revolver, presented it and fired. The ball struck the prisoner on the forehead just over the right eyebrow. The wounded man fell on the ground, and the policeman turning round said he shot the man for calling him "a son of a b—h." His police partner came up and told Wambold to go away, which he did at once.

Squire Weismar, who saw the whole occurrence, says Hughes made no resistance and did not attempt to get away. I saw no cause for the killing. Wambold said after it was done that he shot the man for what he had said. Hughes was a little intoxicated, but quiet and peaceable. He thinks it was a cold blooded murder.

John Tobin, who saw the whole affair, and was one of those in Joe's House, says that there was no resistance. He saw no provocation for the murder.

Robert Reed says there was not the slightest resistance or attempt to get away. The act of the policeman was without any provocation, so far as he saw.

Joe Boggiano says Hughes didn't strike at all, nor pull back, nor make any resistance. It was a cold blooded murder. It was the worst thing I have ever seen in my life.

Neil Martin, mate of a steamboat, has known Hughes since he was a boy. He never knew him to be quarrelsome.

Many other persons gave Hughes the same character. Wambold has been a particular pet of Beaumont and a member of Lincoln Council. Hughes was a deck hand on the steamer Mollie Hambleton.

The police along the levee are charged with numerous grave offenses. A gentleman who is connected with river business states that they are in league with the scalping carriages that rob strangers, and if any one objects to the conduct of the drivers of the carriages, the police threaten or arrest them. A few days since a gentleman who is a merchant saw some parties being robbed by the driver of one of the scalping carriages, and interfered, but the police arrested him, and he was fined twenty-six dollars and a half before he could get out of the scrape.

Several persons who were at the scene of the murder yesterday, and expressed themselves in condemnation of it, were arrested by the police, and will doubtless be fined for disorderly conduct.

Humane Action—Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company.

The following, which we find in a recent number of the Mobile News, speaks volumes for the managers of the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company. The act carries real and pure charity upon its face, and we look in vain for a parallel case among insurance companies. Here it is:

"Prior to the breaking out of the war a well known citizen of Mobile had insured his life for a series of years in the Knickerbocker Life Insurance Company, of New York, then and now having an agency in Mobile. He had renewed his premium from time to time, but his last renewal expired in March, 1862, at a time when the company had no agent in Mobile, and, owing to a total absence of communication between the company in New York and the party insuring, no renewal of the policy was made, nor any premium paid after that date. Some seven months thereafter, the gentleman in question died, leaving a widow and four children wrecked in fortune and in pecuniary distress; but upon a recent application on the part of the widow and guardian of the children, to that estimable gentleman, Erastus Lyman, Esq., of New York, President of the company and his Board of Directors, stating the fact that the deceased husband and father could not on account of the war pay his premiums as he had done previously, Mr. Lyman, in behalf of the company, forwarded to the widow and guardian the whole amount of the policy (five thousand dollars), less the premium due in March, 1862. Such acts of generous justice and Christian benevolence need no praise, but find their reward in the grateful tears of the widow and orphan. The divine principle, which is so often forgotten in this sordid age—"Do unto others as we would they should do unto us"—is so beautifully illustrated in the action of this staid old company, that it at once recommends it to the confidence and patronage of the public.

We congratulate the citizens of Memphis that in these times of disease and disaster they can, through our old friends, Messrs. S. R. Clarke & Co., Insurance Agents, enjoy the benefits of this honest and wealthy corporation, and urge them to do as we have already done—insure their lives in the Knickerbocker.

HOWELL, WOOD & Co.,
3t Southern Palace, 332 Main street.

A GRAND TOURNAMENT WITH THE LANCE.—Captain L. Van, a thoroughly educated soldier, master of the sword and every other weapon of offense and defense, intends giving a grand tournament on a new and novel plan, for the benefit of the suffering people by the late overflow of the Mississippi valley, on the 31st of July, at some place near the city, of which notice will be given.

LOOK OUT CHOLERA.—Captain T. T. Wright has been prevailed upon by the numerous persons who used his cholera medicine last year, to prepare a new supply, which he has done; and the public will find his valuable medicine at the drug store of J. P. Drumgoole & Co., corner of Beale and Main streets; J. P. Jones & Co., 157 Main street, and the Overton drug store, in the Overton Hotel building; also, at McClain's boat store, foot of Jefferson street. This medicine Captain Wright has used for thirty years in cholera, diarrhea and vomiting, and never lost a case. Thousands in this city used it last year, and it effected cures in cases where other remedies had failed, and all hope of recovery lost. Every family should keep a bottle of this medicine in their house.

SECOND DRAWING.—The first drawing of the Southern Asylum at Hernando demonstrates the practicability of the plan of disposing of lands by the Southern Asylum. Although a limited amount of property was disposed of, this was owing to the tightness of the money market, the brief time allowed for selling tickets, and the insufficiency of agencies throughout the country. All these last defects are now being remedied, and, in addition, an absolute scheme of splendid prizes is offered, which must attract the attention of the public and invite investments. The first prize is the magnificent property of Colonel M. C. Gallaway, on the corner of Court and Third streets, in the very heart of the city. The fortunate drawer of this prize will at once secure a handsome fortune by the investment of a small sum, which is well worth the hazard, especially when his chances are still further enhanced by nine other attractive prizes. 1w

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—There will be preaching at the Christian Church, corner Linden and Mulberry streets, this morning at half-past ten o'clock, and at half-past eight p.m. A public collection will be taken up at the morning service for the suffering widows and orphans of the South.

TWO HORSE THIEVES CAUGHT.

Citizens of Marshall County, Mississippi, Involved.

The Holly Springs Reporter of last Friday says: On Sunday morning last, two Texans, giving their names as U. S. Gregory and S. F. Braden, were brought into our city and turned over to Major Dykeman, commander of the post, on a charge of horse stealing. It seems that some days previously, Mr. James H. Still, residing in the western part of the county, had had stolen from him a couple of mules; and that he pursued the thieves to the Yazoo bottom, where he arrested them, afterwards turning them over as stated. Since the arrest of the Texans, they have implicated other parties, citizens of the county, who have been also arrested, and turned over to the military. The names of the citizens are withheld from publication. The Charleston Tallehatchian of yesterday, referring to the same subject, says that in the effort to arrest two others were killed. One or two made their escape. The stolen property was recovered. The same paper is pained to learn, which it did from the party, that the citizens whom they called upon to aid in the arrest, charged them one valuable mule for their services. We would not have thought that of the good people of Carroll.

Correspondence.

DRESDEN, TENN., June 22, 1867.

Hon. Chas. S. Cameron, Memphis, Tenn.:

DEAR SIR: We inclose you the appointments of A. J. Fletcher. Every consideration impels us to urge you to meet him at each of these appointments.

We write in behalf of those who have heard you in this portion of the State. The voice of grateful and admiring thousands who have heard you is loud in calling you to the political foram, and your peculiar gifts at this juncture must not be unemployed. Truly yours,

Wm. P. Caldwell,	W. J. Hurt, Henry co.,
Emerson Etheridge,	S. W. Sharp,
W.B.Porter, Henry co.,	J. G. Parker,

L. D. C. Atkins, Henry county.

APPOINTMENTS OF HON. A. J. FLETCHER.

Hon. A. J. Fletcher will address his fellow citizens on the political issues of the day at the following times and places, viz.:

Lexington, Henderson county, July 8.
Huntingdon, Carroll county, July 10.
Trezevant, Carroll county, July 11.
Trenton, Gibson county, July 12.

The above appointments have been agreed upon by Isaac R. Hawkins and John Norman.

ITEMITAS.

In consequence of Rev. Dr. Wheat's illness there will be no services at St. Lazarus' Church to-day.

The City Fathers will meet at ten o'clock on Monday to settle the pavement question.

Marzoratti, who was formerly a noted caterer to epicures in Memphis has returned to our city.

John Hardy was sun struck on Beale street yesterday.

Sam Ford is charged with embezzlement his employer, Mr. Mulligan.

John Samson was arrested for stealing a suit of clothing from J. H. Waggener's.

John Wolf had to pay $50 yesterday for beating his wife.

Henry Brady was arrested yesterday for stealing a silver watch and fifty-seven dollars from Mr. Clanston.

A very fine awning is being put up around the Bethel building, corner of South Court and Main street.

It is reported that Mr. Hopper has sold his interest in the street contracts to General Forrest, and that the new firm is Montgomery & Forrest.

About three hundred dollars' worth of clothing was stolen from No. 394 Main street, on Friday night.

A shrewd fellow remarks that the worst doctors always find most cases of prevalent and alarming diseases.

The house No. 118 Mulberry street was robbed, on Friday night, of a lot of clothing and other valuables.

Captain W. J. Ross, General Superintendent of the Memphis & Charleston railroad, was in Nashville on Thursday.

Johnny Rushton danced, on Friday night, for one hour, making a different step every three minutes, on a bet of two hundred dollars.

A gentleman named Farrell was knocked down on Adams street about twelve o'clock on Friday night, and robbed of fifty-five dollars. He was attacked by three or four highwaymen.

At the session of the committee of investigation in relation to bribery and corruption, City Father Amis was excluded because he had opposed the Finance Committee.

We were gratified to notice on our streets, yesterday, our esteemed fellow citizen, Dr. Wm. T. Irwin, who has been confined to his residence for several weeks with severe rheumatism.

The Conservative permanent committee of West Tennessee, have invited an able lawyer of this city to be present at the appointments of the Radical speaker, A. J. Fletcher, Secretary of State, and meet him in argument.

The Committee on Investigation of charges of attempted bribery and corruption of the City Fathers held a private meeting yesterday; examined a number of witnesses, and finally concluded that there was nothing that sustained the allegations.

Is it not a little singular that County Commissioner W. H. White, whose whole time is supposed to be taken up with his official duties, has been put upon the Board of Health, which occupies a great deal of time, and will be roundly paid for? Are doctors so scarce that a County Commissioner must hold two fat places?

Respectable gentlemen who were present yesterday at the registration of colored voters, say that they saw registration refused to blacks who came forward and said they were from Mississippi, or were under twenty-one years of age; but ten minutes after, when the same fellows came up and said they had lived in Shelby county two years and were over twenty-one years of age, they were at once registered without question or remark.

A good joke is told on the Clerk of the Municipal Court. He knows nothing of business, and leaves it almost wholly to his deputy, M. Hyde, Esq. The Clerk had noticed how the Deputy signed papers, and thinking himself competent, he, in a recent case when called on to give his official signature, wrote it as he had seen the Deputy do—

"L. B. EATON,
"By M HYDE,
"Deputy Clerk, etc."

A kind husband in this city, recently, sent his wife on a visit to the Springs in Virginia, while he reluctantly (!) remained behind to attend to his business. The wife had a pleasant time, but very shortly got word that every thing was not going on right here; so she returned without sending a notification in advance. When she unexpecectedly arrived at home, she found another good looking woman keeping house there, and living on very intimate terms with the husband who had been left at home. A grand break up has ensued.

ATTENTION VOTERS OF THE FIRST WARD.—The voters of the First Ward are earnestly requested to meet to-morrow night at eight o'clock, in Engine House No. 6, for the purpose of organizing an Etheridge Conservative club. We are requested to make this statement, and assure our friends throughout the city that the First Ward is in earnest for the success of the principles of right and justice. Will not our Conservative friends in the other wards of the city follow the example of the boys in the glorious old First?

Ward & LeGuere, at 216 Main street, corner of Adams, have the reputation of making the finest soda water in the city, or, indeed, in the South. They have spared no expense to obtain suitable apparatus for that purpose. They manufacture their own soda water from one of Gee's celebrated generators, and their fountain connects with a cistern of pure water. They claim that their soda is not only superior to any in the city, but equal to any in the world.

SOMETHING THAT WE CAN'T COMPREHEND.—How it is that Reid & Bro., 15½ Jefferson street, can afford to sell their clothing, furnishing goods, and make clothes to order, at such remarkably low prices in comparison with other houses. If you want to wear good clothes and be economical call on the above firm. 3t

Finest assortment of straw goods in this city opened this day, at Francisco & Wiggin's, 309 Main street. 3t

MUNICIPAL COURT.—Yesterday the following cases were disposed of. The jury in the case of Nettie White failed to agree and was discharged:

State vs. Steinmeyer, continued.
State vs. R. Brown, submitted.
State vs. Windle, submitted.

THE ORPHANS' PICNIC ON THE FOURTH OF JULY.

A Delightful Trip and a Pleasant Time.

We trust our readers will not forget that they will have an opportunity of enjoying, next Thursday, the National Anniversary in a cool and refreshing manner rarely presented on an occasion of that kind. The picnic at Bartlett's station will be an interesting affair, in the shady groves of its renowned picnic grounds, gotten up by the friends of the Catholic Orphan's Asylum, to aid in the high purpose of supporting the little ones who are thrown upon the cold charities of the world. The cost of the whole trip will be but $1 00, and we trust that all who can will attend and contribute to the noble object of this elegant social gathering. The trains will commence running at nine o'clock, and continue to run every hour and a half.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

A Young Lady Returning to her Country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the city, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three, she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any lady or gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying, the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. At St. Louis the river is reported stationary. White and Arkansas rivers are declining steadily, with a fair stage in each for steamboat purposes.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Business yesterday ruled as it has done for almost a month past, with only a few spasmodic interruptions. It was insufferably dull in every branch. There was some inquiry in cotton, but nothing to suit could be found on the market. The small quantity remaining on hand are principally of the lower grades, and that of a higher order is held for higher prices than are offered, or does not exist, save in the imaginations of sceptical persons.

Thursday being a dull day on the landings, and river matters few and far between, ye river editor, determined on a piscatorial excursion. Accordingly, having supplied himself with hooks, lines, corks, rods, worms, and "chicken fixins," not to omit a bottle of real old Bourbon, and a huge cube of ice, he procured Mr. George Mellersh's fine tug Nellie, Captain Main Gault in command, to convey him and four compagnons du voyage to Cheek's bayou, above Mound City. They set out at an early hour from Wm. Jay Johnson's Star wharf-boat, and were in high glee, with a delicious and inspiring breeze in their faces, when as they were crossing the mouth of Wolf river, "pop" went something very much like the report of a champagne cork, or an old fashioned horseman's pistol. Alas! for human hopes! The cylinder head had gone up, and the pretty Nellie must lay up for repairs. But fortune favors the brave. Captain John Ford, perceiving that some contretemps had occurred, quickly hied to their assistance with the charming Nettie Jones, and, in double quick time, landed them alongside the Peosta, now repairing above Mound City. Thanking Captain Ford for his courtesy and kindness, the excursionists, gathering up their traps, proceeded at once to the "fishing grounds," which extend from the confluence of the bayou and the Mississippi, as far up the former as the curious explorer may choose to penetrate; and experience has taught the further the better—for fish. The walking was not as dry and free from mud as the park; and the grey headed mosquitoes were, by no means, backward in presenting their bills, which were uniformly protested, but were not the less annoying. Some of the party, grew weary of the sport early in the afternoon, and there was one "sick man," though no Turk. The day's sport terminated with the loss of a knife, sundry books, the disappearance of ice and whisky, as well as bait both for man and fish, muddy boots, muddy pants, muddy coats, muddy hats and muddy faces, and the per contra, about two hundred sun fish about as long as your hand, a cat fish and a handsome "calico perch." One of the party had the felicity of battling with a downright "snapper," and for a time it was a matter of uncertainty whether it would consent to leave the water or desired to draw its antagonist in. At length, after a hard struggle, the shellback concluded to let go, and retired completely in disgust, without so much as a conge. The fight with the cat fish was of shorter duration, and terminated in victory. By six o'clock p.m., the whistle of the Nettie Jones was heard, and in half an hour or less the excursionists were safely landed at Jay Johnson's Star wharf-boat.

There is a class of scoundrels who infest this city called "scalpers," drivers of covered express wagons, with whom the Metropolitans are believed to be "in cahoot." Let persons going to or from steamboats be careful to avoid them, if they wish to avoid imposition. A party availing itself of one of them, was about to be scalped, when the mate of the Dan Able interferred, for which he was arrested and fined $26 50 by the astute Commissioner. The fact that men who interpose to protect people from the most glaring imposition, are arrested, is pretty conclusive that there is an understanding between the police and the "scalpers." They may be seen, particularly at night, on the corner of Jefferson street, laying their plans, waiting for a catch, or laughing over some fruitful haul they have divided.

Yesterday, on the landing, a man named John Hughes, late a deck hand on the Mollie Hambleton, was shot by a cowardly policeman named Wambold. It was nothing more or less than deliberate murder, and the official miscreant should be made to pay the penalty of such free use of his weapon. He will find that his "little brief authority" will not warrant it. A person who witnessed the dastardly act, the offense leading to it being merely offensive words, pronounced it cowardly, when he was arrested by two other policemen, who were fearfully wounded in the sarcasm thrown upon their companion. Particulars of this dastardly deed will be found in our local columns.

Would you think it? The river editor of the AVALANCHE has been robbed. His house has been ransacked, and many of his valuables abstracted! He has watched and prayed for six long weeks, in full expectation of the foul deed, and sure enough it came at last, and was very mild of the kind. On Friday night, watching by the bedside of a sick child, the father and mother did not retire until near two o'clock, leaving a bright light burning in the room. The thief, after waiting for the stentorous evidences of sleep, entered through a window, and selected from all the articles surveyed, those least likely to lead to detection, and promising what was most sought. A quantity of elegant clothing for ladies' wear was spurned with contempt; but the river editor's coat and pants were taken to the yard, and, being searched, were indignantly thrown away, as was his memorandum book, which had been mistaken for a portemonnai. The contents of the pockets disclosed the enormous amount of one dollar in currency and sixty-five cents of the nickel persuasion, the latter belonging to the company—being the one per cent. collected—which is now gone up. Alas! for the uncertainty of human expectations. The thief got very little booty, but he triumphantly bore of a pair of new gaiters whose like we never shall look upon again.

Now, we say in all candor to the thief, if he will bring back the gaiters, or deposit them where we can get them, we will place ten dollars to his credit any where he will name, ask no questions, and he may keep all the rest he took, even including the nice ham we intended for our Sunday dinner, and will consider the whole thing a good joke.

Commodore Mart Walt led to the alter yesterday, the beautiful Miss Fisk of our city, and immediately after the ceremony they took passage, occupying one of the superb bridal chambers on the Robert E. Lee, intending to seek more health-inspiring climes during these torrid days.

From the Metropolis Times we learn that the crew of the Richmond egged the denziens of that little village on her last trip up the Ohio. The provocation was the the taunting of some of the young Metropolitans of the Richmond on account of her defeat. The crew took advantage, and as the gay larks had on their Sunday-go-to-meeting clothes, gave them a shower of eggs by way of accelerating their progress up the bank. We fancy the phelinx of the young men, and think we "see them on their winding way," as Hamlet said of Yorick's skull—"quite chap fallen." We are sure that Captain Stut Neal, and the other officers of the boat, would have restrained the ire of the crew; but it was like a summer shower—an extempore affair, and over about as soon as begun.

For Chinese and cork hats, the most delightful wear for hot weather, commend us to Miller & Leidy, 260 Main street, opposite Court Square, where they have every thing that is fashionable, elegant or comfortable in the hat line.

The mate of the Nightingale was stabbed severely at Evansville, on Thursday night by a deck hand.

The entire stock of the Atlantic and Mississippi Steamship line will be sold at auction at St. Louis on the 15th of next month, and the line reorganized.

General Jeff. Thompson, secretary of the New Orleans Lightering and Wrecking company, addressed the underwriters, steamboatmen and merchants, on 'Change, at Cincinnati, on Friday.

The Darling cleared for Cincinnati last evening, with a small list of cotton but a full passenger trip.

The Clifton will be found in port Monday morning, from Cincinnati, and will return to Cincinnati on Tuesday.

Navigation above Cincinnati is well nigh suspended, and the Maggie Hays, bound for Pittsburg, has been compelled to tie up below Glasshouse ripple.

Captain Levy, of the firm of Levy & Miller, left yesterday morning for Cincinnati, by rail, in search of a suitable wharf-boat.

The Lady, Captain Ward, will be found at the wharf Monday morning, to receive for Helena, Moon Lake and Mariana.

The Mollie Hambleton is the regular Tuesday St. Francis river passenger packet.

The superb steamer Gleaner, Captain King, is receiving at the wharf for Arkansas river and way points, and leaves on Tuesday at five p.m.

The Commercial is the regular Tuesday White river mail packet.

The Belle Memphis, Captain Dan. Musselman, is the regular Monday Cairo and St. Louis packet. She leaves at five p.m.

The Marble City cleared for St. Louis last evening with a good passenger trip.

The Dan Able for Vicksburg and Victor No. 2 for Haile's Point, got off with good trips.

The regular Monday White river packet, the Rose Hambleton, Captain Newell, will leave the wharf Monday at 5 p.m. for Jacksonport and all way points on White river. She has good passenger accommodations, and is in charge of competant and reliable steamboatmen. Mr. Carl Hanks, a social and clever gentleman, officiates in the office. The Rose is a Memphis institution, and in charge of attentive officers.

The R. E. Lee passed up yesterday morning for Paducah. She will be at the wharf Tuesday evening to receive for New Orleans and intermediate landings, and leave on Wednesday at five p.m., her usual time.

Captain Bob Gibson, of the City Wharf-boat, returned home yesterday morning. He reports the "Black Crook" in a healthy condition.

The Henry M. Shreve, from Vicksburg for St. Louis, passed up yesterday morning.

The Louisville Courier of Friday says:

The river was falling rather fast yesterday, with four feet nine inches water in the canal in the evening by the mark. During the previous twenty-four hours it had fallen three inches at the head of the falls and nine inches at Portland.

On the falls last evening there were barely thirty-three inches water in the pass down the Indian chute, and falling rather fast. This will make good fishing in the slough on or before the 4th of July.

At Cincinnati at noon yesterday the river had fallen eleven inches in the previous twenty-four hours, with warm weather and not over eight feet water in the channel.

PITTSBURG, June 27.—The weather during the day was clear and warm, but toward evening it rained. The boats are all laid up for the present, on account of low water.

BURNING OF THE STEAMER W. F. CURTIS AT MARIETTA—NO LIVES LOST.—The sternwheel steamer W. F. Curtis, Captain Brown, was totally destroyed by fire, Thursday morning at two o'clock p.m., at Marietta, Ohio. The origin of the fire is unknown. She was a comparatively good boat, and built at Marietta in 1864; had capacity for three hundred tons; was owned by Captain Brown, her commander, and others. She was insured for $16,000, all she was worth, in the following Cincinnati offices: Enterprise, $7,500; Central, $4,000; Boatmans', $2,500, and Union, $2,000.

The magnificent and palatial passenger steamer Great Republic, left New Orleans Thursday evening, for St. Louis, with a large passenger trip. She made a splendid run to Vicksburg, and will be found at the wharf-boat, foot of Monroe street, this morning, to receive passengers for St. Louis, and leave positively at eight a.m. Captain Donaldson, her commander, is an affable and courteous gentleman. Captain Charley Dravo and Sam. Barr, jr., two gentlemen noted for their urbanity and courtesy, have charge of the office. The Great Republic will, no doubt, astonish the natives this trip, and prove herself a fast clipper. Her time to Vicksburg is hard to beat, and if she will make the same run from here to St. Louis she will beat the Ruth's time. She has unsurpassed passenger accommodations and is complete in all her appointments. We would advise all wishing a pleasant trip to take passage on this superb steamer.

The commodious passenger steamer, the Ruth, Captain Carter, will leave the city wharfboat this morning at eight a.m. for New Orleans.

The Welcome, Captain Johnson, will leave the city wharfboat Monday at five p.m. for Vicksburg and the bends.

The Kenton, from New Orleans for Cincinnati, and Enterprise from Little Rock for St. Louis, passed up yesterday.

The boy of Mr. Frank Murphy, aged nine years, was drowned in Wolf river on the 28th whilst in swimming. The boy Murphy was the nephew of Mr. Richard Brannan, steward of the steamer Gleaner. A liberal reward will be paid for the recovery of his body. Another boy, name unknown, about the same age, was drowned at the same time.

The Cincinnati Commercial, of Friday, has the following:

Captain Cady's new Arkansas river packet, Hamilton, will make a trial trip on Saturday, and drop down to the levee and load for the headwaters of Arkansas river. She only draws eleven inches water light. The Bertha while at the foot of the canal, at Portland, backed into a flatboat, laden with hay, causing it to sink. The boat and cargo belonged to Mr. Pleasants, of Vevay, Indiana, and was insured for four thousand dollars in the Madison Insurance Company, of Madison, Indiana, and the Enterprise of Cincinnati. The Starlight, Captain R. S. Yerkes, goes to Arkansas river in place of the Bertha, the latter steamer having laid up for repairs. Captain Morton and Molt. Harpy arrived from Memphis yesterday. They will take charge of the new White river packet Rowena, now being refitted and refurnished here by Captain John B. Davis. The Rowena leaves for White river direct next week.

The following lines were penned by the author, on reading a notice of a book, which appeared in our paper a few days since, encouraging Southern emigration to Brazil:

"NIL DESPERANDUM."

BY "LENNOCO."

What! leave your dear land to her mourning?
To the stranger leave hearthstone and shrine?
Go out into exile—returning
No more to this country of thine?
Leave your land, all her glories departed?—
Her altars to crumble to dust?
Leave the graves of your kindred deserted
By all whom you trust?

Shame! Stay though you drink of the chalice
Of sorrow till Freedom expires!
Unheeded be tyranny's malice—
Your home is the land of your sires!
Though no morrow shall rise on your nation,
And the South mourn, a Niobe, there—
Though bitter her dread tribulation,
Her destiny share!

Lo, where your sad motherland presses
The ashes of shrines with her knees!
Go, change all her bleak wildernesses
To Edens of plenty and peace!
Let anthems go up from the valleys
Where erst pealed the tocsin of hate;
And, whether in cottage or palace,
Go conquer a fate!

From the Land We Love.]

THE LAND WE LOVE.

BY THE REV. FATHER RYAN.

Land of the Gentle and Brave!
Our love is as wide as thy wor,
It deepens beside every grave,
Where the heart of a hero lies low.

Land of the brightest of skies!
Our love grows the more 'mid thy gloom,
Our hearts, by the saddest of ties,
Cling closest to thee in thy doom.

Land where the desolate weep!
In a sorrow too deep to console,
Our tears are but streams making deep
The ocean of love in our soul.

Land where the victor flag waves,
Where only the dead are the free,
Each link of the chain that enslaves,
Shall bind us the closer to thee.

Land where the sign of the cross,
Its shadow of sorrow hath shed,
We measure our Love by thy Loss,
Thy Loss—by the graves of our Dead.

FEMALE FASHIONS.

Plain Talk to the Women by a Catholic Clergyman.

From the Buffalo Express.]

A very large audience assembled in St. Joseph's Cathedral last evening to hear the lecture of the Rev. W. F. Payne of Rochester, which was delivered for the benefit of the Young Men's Catholic association. About one thousand tickets were sold by the members.

"In like manner, women also in decent apparel, adorning themselves with modesty, and not with plaited hair, gold nor precious stones, but as it becometh women who profess godliness with good works."—1 Tim. iii.

The speaker, after reading these two verses, said the times are very much changed since the Apostles were first inspired by the spirit of God to pen the words. It would appear from the Gospel that the pomp of dress was confined most exclusively to the courts of princes and kings. In our own day this disorder—for it can be called by no other name—exists in all ranks and classes of society. In fact, we may say that there is a great deal more abuse in the present age in respect to vanity among the middle and lower classes than exists among those who are considered to be in a position of wealth and opulence. It is a difficult subject to treat in the pulpit, and that is the reason why preachers seldom touch upon it.

All ornamentation is not contrary to the letter and spirit of the Gospel, but the excessive use of ornaments is a prevailing vice among the female sex. The fashions are extravagant and immodest. God sanctioned the use of ornaments in the decorations of the temple and altar, in order to make them attractive to the Jews. That which would be proper in some cases would be improper in others. The condition of woman in life should regulate her dress. A woman whose husband was living persisted in wearing widow's weeds, and this drew out a letter from St. Austin, in which he laid down three rules for the guidance of woman. First, a married woman should follow the will of her husband. It was a very good rule, and the husbands present would no doubt be very much obliged to me if I could induce women to follow the will of their husbands. The second rule for those who are not married, but may be engaged or seeking an engagement, is equally salutary; it is to follow the will of their fathers and mothers. The speaker said if a young lady, now a days, "was to come to me and make secret confession of the fact that she was going to be married, and I should tell her to go and consult her parents, she would think I ought to have been born a hundred years ago. There is nothing more absurd, they think, than for young ladies to consult their parents; but they follow the guidance of their own passions, and the results are divorces, wretched lives, and still more wretched deaths. The third rule of St. Austin related to those who had renounced the world, and they should follow the will of Him whom they had chosen to follow.

The first rule allowed considerable indulgence in dress, which should be regulated by the age and season. A little straw hat, exceedingly short skirts, very short cropped hair, (which a short time ago was the fashion among ladies considerably advanced in years,) are proper in girls from eight to ten years of age, but border on the ridiculous and indecent in ladies of fifty summers. Marriage is the normal condition of men and women, but when it is not sought for by those who are free to enter into that state, it shows that there is a cause, and that cause is not favorable to virtue, religion or the good of society. Only seven marriages were solemnized in the church of St. Bridget last year. The cause is apparent. I broached the subject to a young man—not so very young neither—remarking I heard he was going to get married. He turned and with the simplicity of a child ten years of age, said "Father Payne, I am surprised that you should even think I was going to be married. Bless your life (his very words), I could not keep my wife in dry goods. [Laughter.] When I become a rich man, then I will marry, but not before, because I want to do the thing properly." [Laughter.] You smile, said the reverend speaker, but I am in earnest.

He had a certain amount of reason for what he said, and that reason is not creditable to the young women. Extravagance in dress makes it difficult for young men in the married state to fulfil their obligations, and this is the reason why young men do not want to get married. The young women have become so fond of dress that the young men are frightened, and this is not for the good of society or religion. Let me give the young ladies this advice: Be less anxious about your appearance; spend less of your earnings in adorning your persons; and think of your souls. Remember that the moment will force itself upon you when you will be stretched out lifeless in the coffin. When that time comes there will be a simple winding sheet that may be bought for a few cents, to wrap you in. The ornaments that remain will be ornaments of virtue which have accompanied you all through life, and will remain throughout an endless eternity.

Though the great vice among women at the present day is want of economy, still there is something of an immodest nature. There never was a time when woman studied more sedulously the art of dressing than at the present time. It has been reduced to a regular system, and the dressing of the body is just as much an art as sculpture or painting. If the women had spent half as much time in adorning the soul as the body they would have been saints long since, leaving the sterner sex in the background. Woman has a special mission to remove the rough spots and smooth the uneven surface of man, and make him love purity by presenting it to him every day in her person. When woman forgets her mission, and her habits excite only illicit love, the result is social and moral degradation. A young lady who dresses in the fashion of the present day, does not dress as "becometh women professing godliness with works." A few days since I was in the business part of Rochester settling the accounts of the church, and after leaving the banking house where these things are done, I stopped on the front step to look over the church bank book to see that every thing was right. While I stood there I overheard two persons whom I took to be gentlemen—from their clothes; certainly not otherwise. I raised my eyes to see what should cause such remarks, and saw three young ladies, two of whom were ten or twelve years old, and the third about seventeen. They stood with their backs to me, looking through a magnificent store window, where jewelry and fancy articles were exposed to the public gaze. The elder one stood in the middle, and when looking closely through the window she leaned forward; you can understand what I mean by this, and the result was what I heard said. Those gentlemen were standing in front of Powers' Banking House, and they saw something more than was becoming; something not in accordance with strict rules of female modesty and propriety. That young lady would have resented any imputation against her modesty, either in act or intention; but the question is, why did she thus dress herself? She was dressed in a hoop skirt of very extravagant dimensions, and the result was remarks that greeted my ears. That young lady would have been shocked and blushed, had she heard them. But she is just as responsible before God as a drunken man who has destroyed his reason is responsible for his actions. Now, there can be but one motive in this fashion, and that is to attract the opposite sex. I don't know that this thing, strictly speaking, is absolutely wrong; but young ladies commit an error when they suppose by attracting attention they command the esteem of the sterner sex. There is sufficient virtue left in a man to force him to respect and love woman so long as she respects herself, and loves modesty and purity; but not a single moment beyond that. The Duplex Elliptic exposes more of the person than ought to be exposed.

Low necked dresses, thanks be to God, do not exist to the extent they once did. Such things are absolutely intolerable—gross indecency.

There are certain things for puffing and padding which one cannot describe. They have but one purpose, to make a woman appear what she would not wish to appear, lascivious. It is a very common thing for a young lady to go into a millinery store and expend from twenty-five to one hundred dollars, and then issue from the door in such a way that her own mother would not be able to recognize her. They spend a great deal of money in making themselves appear to the young gentlemen precisely what they are not. A young gentleman said to me: "Marry; whom am I to marry? You don't know what they are. They can go into a millinery shop, and if you marry them, you will find they are not what they represent themselves to be." This is one reason why so many young men hesitate about entering into the normal state of wedlock.

GROENDYKE vs. GROENDYKE.

The Tables Turned.

Mrs. Groendyke in a New Character at the Police Court.

From the Chicago Journal, June 20.]

Very few Chicagoans have failed to read the particulars which, within the past week or two, were divulged in court at the hearing of the Groendyke divorce suit. It was supposed that this would have been the last of the appearance before the public of this family, except on the occasion of the finding of the jury, but we have been doomed to disagreeable disappointment.

It appears that some time before and since the developments at the Superior Court, Mrs. Groendyke kept a fashionable boarding house on Michigan street, and many of her sympathizing friends pitied her extremely for having to resort to this means of earning a livelihood. They all thought her an injured, persecuted woman, and believed that she was immaculate. But matters have come to light which not only lead people to surmise the reasons why she sued for a divorce from her husband, but reflect upon her past conduct and general principles, place her in a new role before the world, virtually belie her evidence against her husband, and show that the latter was undoubtedly "more sinned against than sinning."

The following will show the cause of Mrs. Groendyke's reappearance on the public stage: It seems that some days ago Mr. Groendyke applied for a warrant for the arrest of Mary Ann Groendyke, on information furnished him, which caused him to suspect that she was living in infamy. The document was furnished, and a watch was kept upon her movements and upon one Warner, who, it was stated, was in the habit of paying nocturnal visits to the boarding house after all had retired to rest, in order to bill and coo with the "charming" mistress of the establishment. On Saturday night, as usual, some policemen, in company with Mr. Groendyke, took up a position near Mrs. Groendyke's house. About midnight they saw some one approach the premises, open the front door and very gently indeed enter the house. The watchers knew patience to be a virtue, and thought by its exercise it might in this case test virtue, so they, instead of pouncing in at once, waited patiently a few minutes before taking ultimate steps. Finally they surrounded the house, and then two or three of the party, one armed with the warrant and one being Mr. Groendyke, gained admission to the domicile, marched up stairs and gained the floor upon which Mrs. Groendyke's sleeping apartment is located. One of the policemen tapped gently at her door. She opened it, but no sooner saw the policeman's uniform than she slammed the door in his face and screamed. Then in rushed the witnesses. There was Mr. Warner, en dishabille, looking like a ghost, standing near the side of his paramour's bed, and there was the virtuous Mary Ann Groendyke attired in the most summer and fairy like costume, raving with indignation, and endeavoring to explain the cause of the extraordinary coincidence of Warner's presence in her room at that moment. Just as the clock in the city sounded the hour of twelve, the officer with the warrant commenced reading its provisions, and finished his interesting address by requesting both the lovers to accompany him to the Armory. Slowly and silently the guilty couple robed themselves in becoming attire, and as the cold gray dawn of morning began to show itself above the horizon, the shivering, trembling brace of turtle doves could have been seen wending their way between two files of silent guards toward the portals of the malefactors' institution yclept the Armory. Arrived here they were admitted to bail to appear this morning for trial.

When the case was called up to-day only Mrs. Groendyke put in an appearance. Her lover had deserted her, and could, it was stated, be found nowhere. On the part of the people, M. D. Brown, Esq., appeared, while the defense was attended to by Messrs. Chickering and Willets. Mr. Brown moved that inasmuch as Mr. Warner was not present, and that as several witnesses for the prosecution had, since yesterday, mysteriously disappeared, the case should be continued. This was agreed to, and Justice Milliken assessed Mrs. Groendyke's bail at $400, and postponed examination until to-morrow morning.

Warner, it is stated, is a prominent business man in this city. The developments which will doubtless take place to-morrow at the Police Court, will have an important bearing on the nature of the evidence lately given at the Superior Court in the divorce suit between the parties principally concerned.

Plea for Jockeys.

To the Editor of the New York Times:]

In the London correspondence of your excellent journal, I remarked, a few days ago, an account of the Derby, and a few moral reflections on the money that changed hands on that event. Your correspondent says:

"Talk about the great fees of famous lawyers, surgeons, or the prices paid painters, sculptors, or authors, here is a little rat of a jockey riding a three year old colt, and beating them all. There is something astonishing and abominable about it," etc., etc.

Now, sir, the workman is paid, as a rule, according to the skill his work requires; also, according to the number of hands there are in the market suited to his particular branch. It happens that of the jockey branch (sufficiently good riders to be intrusted with a mount in the Derby) there are few; the men in question have to attain the top of the tree, and that by a life of the greatest privation and strictest attention to their profession. They cannot just ride for the Derby and then retire till the following year; they must be in perpetual training for other races, denying themselves all sensual enjoyments, as these would interfere with their training and condition. The very fact of a horse like Hermit running contrary to the judgment of almost all the great racing judges of England—(he was 100 to 1 at starting)—proves what skill there must be in the rider; frequent accidents from the vice of a horse, or from man or horse falling, prove the danger of the profession. The Derby is considered a great feather in the cap of the man who wins it—the name of the horse and man are never forgotten. Exclusive of the six thousand pounds stakes, or thereabouts, the owner usually nets an enormous stake by betting on his horse. It occurs but once a year, and is called "The Blue Ribon of the Turf." Under these circumstances, I think one of the chief laborers, viz., the rider, is worthy of hire, or what he is promised if he wins. I think, if newspaper accounts are true, we shall find that novelists and painters have been paid as high prices for books and pictures. These and other people mentioned by your correspondents continue to make sums in the course of the year which far exceed any sum made by the most successful jockey. Do not, therefore, grudge him if, in the course of his arduous life spent in rushing about all over England, and, indeed, Europe, at the beck and call of his employers, he is once or twice rewarded by a fraction, large indeed, but small in comparison with the gains of his master.

I remain, sir, your obedient servant,
A BRITISH OFFICER.

Stokes recently made a speech, says the Nashville Banner, in which he exclaimed, "Ah my colored hearers, did you never receive the lash?" An old darkey jumped up in the crowd and replied, "Yes, by golly! you gib me lots of it when I worked on your plantation near Liberty." Stokes suppressed his eloquence, and dried up immediately.

INCIDENTS OF THE PRESIDENT'S TRAVELS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

They Point a Moral.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post says:

The late journey of the President to North Carolina afforded opportunity for instruction and amusement, as one or two incidents illustrative of the condition of the South, related to me by one of the distinguished party, will exemplify. At Chapel Hill, North Carolina, a member of the Cabinet accompanied by Colonel Moore, the President's private Secretary, were enjoying an evening walk, when they encountered a hitherto bondman, who thus accosted them:

"Gentlemen, excuse me, but I am looking for General Sickles; will you please tell me where to find him?"

"We are strangers here," replied one of the party, "and cannot direct you. But you can easily learn by asking some resident."

"Well, I'll tell you how it is, boss," said the seeker after knowledge, "I live in the country, and I have been planting corn, and the crows they pull it all up. An you see we ain't allowed to carry no firearms here, an I can't shoot the crows. Now, I want to see General Sickles an git an order to shoot de crows."

"You are right, my friend," said the Cabinet Minister. "You have no right to shoot the crows without an order. The crows are under care of Congress, and they pull up your corn by virtue of legal enactment. But General Sickles is greater than Congress, and he can give you permission to shoot them."

And the man departed in search of military authority to grow corn.

At Richmond two members of the Cabinet hired colored hackman to drive them about the city, in order that they might see the notable places. One of them is a friend of General Hobart, who was confined in Libby Prison, and he wanted to see the hole through which he made his escape. The hackman was a bright, intelligent man, and greatly aided the sight seekers in the gratification of their curiosity. He showed them various objects of interest, and at last come to the house occupied by the President of the "late so-called Confederate States."

"This," said he, "is the house presented to Jeff. Davis, "but he don't live in it now."

He was asked who was the fortunate dweller in the distinguished mansion.

"I don't know his name," said the driver, "but he is the man who has charge of the State."

He referred to General Schofield, who has charge of what was once Virginia, but is now a military district.

The man was right. He innocently located all the authority where Congress meant to place it, but he is probably quite unconscious of the trouble his auditors have since had concerning the men who have charge of the State.

ASTROLOGY.

THE WORLD ASTONISHED

At the wonderful revelations made by the great Astrologist

Madame H. A. PERRIGO.

SHE reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, etc., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person. She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and all desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness inclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, inclosing a small lock of hair.

MEDICAL.

FRENCH MEDICINES

PREPARED BY

GRIMAULT & CO.

Chemists to H. I. H. Prince Napoleon,

PARIS.

THESE different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of chemistry therapeutics. They must not be confounded with secret or quack medicines, as their names sufficiently indicate their composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the faculty in the whole world. They widely differ from those numerous medicines advertised in the public papers as able to cure every possible disease, as they are applicable only to but a very few complaints. The most stringent laws exist in France with regard to the sale of medical preparations, and only those which have undergone an examination by the Academy of Medicine, and have been proved efficacious, either in the hospitals or in the practice of the first medical men, are authorized by the government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellency of Messrs. GRIMAULT & CO.'S medicines.

DOCTOR LERAS'
(Doctor of Medicine)

LIQUID PHOSPHATE OF IRON.

The newest and most esteemed medicine in cases of CHLOROSIS, PAINS IN THE STOMACH, DIFFICULT DIGESTION, DISMENORRHEA, ANEMIA, GENERAL DEBILITY and POORNESS OF BLOOD.

It is particularly recommended to regulate the functions of nature, and to all ladies of delicate constitution, as well as to persons suffering under any kind of debility whatsoever. It is the preservative of health par excellence in all warm and relaxing climates.

NO MORE COD LIVER OIL.
GRIMAULT'S

Syrup of Iodized Horse Radish!

This medicine has been administered with the utmost success in the hospitals of Paris. It is a perfect substitute for COD LIVER OIL, and has been found most beneficial in DISEASES OF THE CHEST, SCROFULA, LYMPHATIC DISORDERS, GREEN SICKNESS, MUSCULAR ATONY and LOSS OF APPETITE. It regenerates the constitution in purifying the blood, it being the most powerful depurative known. It has also been applied with happy results in DISEASES OF THE SKIN. Further, it will be found to be of great benefit to young children subject to HUMORS and OBSTRUCTION OF THE GLANDS.

CONSUMPTION CURED.
GRIMAULT'S

Syrup of Hypophosphite of Lime!

This new medicine is considered to be a sovereign remedy in cases of PHTHISIS and other DISEASES OF THE LUNGS. It promptly removes all the most serious symptoms. The cough is relieved, night perspirations cease, and the patient is rapidly restored to health.

N. B.—Be sure to see that the signature of GRIMAULT & CO. is affixed to the bottle, as this syrup is liable to imitations.

NO MORE DIFFICULT OR PAINFUL DIGESTION.
DR. BURIN DU BUISSON'S
(Laureate of the Paris Imperial Academy of Medicine)

Digestive Lozenges!

This delicious preparation is always prescribed by the most reputed medical men in France in cases of derangements of the digestive functions, such as GASTRITIS, GASTRALGIA, LONG AND LABORIOUS DIGESTION, wind in the stomach and bowels, EMACIATION, JAUNDICE and COMPLAINTS OF THE LIVER AND LOINS.

Nervous Headaches, Neuralgia, Diarrhea, Dysentery,

INSTANTANEOUSLY CURED BY

Grimault's Guarana.

This vegetable substance, which grows in the Brazils, has been employed since time immemorial to cure INFLAMMATION OF THE BOWELS. It has proved of late to be of the greatest service in cases of CHOLERA, as it is preventive and a cure in cases of Diarrhea.

NO MORE COPAIBA AND CUBEBS.

Grimault's Capsules and Liquid Extract of Matico Vegetalis.

Where all other medicines have failed, these preparations will always effect a cure. They insure rapid and extraordinary cure of severe, recent and chronic cases of private diseases. They are used in the hospitals of Paris by the celebrated Dr. Ricord, and are found greatly superior to all hitherto known mineral remedies and copaiba and cubebs. The injection is used in recent and capsules in the more chronic cases.

General Depots:
In Paris, at GRIMAULT & CO.'S, 45 rue Richelieu.
In Memphis, at G. W. JONES & CO.'S.
